500 Homes Here Reported Out of Coal

HEATLESS DAYS AHEAD; YARDS' SUPPLIES GONE

Estimate 1,200 Families Will Be Without Fuel in City Within Week.

[illegible] supply in Marion coal [illegible] exhausted today as [illegible] made their last deliveries, [illegible]dreds of families faced [illegible] homes within the next [illegible] unless emergency sup[illegible] be received.

C[illegible] dealers and city officials [illegible] that 500 homes in the [illegible] be entirely out of coal [illegible] today and between 1,000 and [illegible] be out within the next [illegible]

There are approximately 2,500 [illegible] in the city which buy coal [illegible] lots because of storage [illegible] securing their supplies [illegible] a time. A majority of [illegible] homes will be without fuel [illegible] two weeks.

T[illegible] the picture painted in [illegible] today by city officials and [illegible] dealers as they studied fur[illegible] measures of providing homes [illegible] coal.

Mayor Gets Reply

Mayor Harry Dowler received [illegible] to his wire of last week [illegible] solid fuels administration [illegible] Cleveland for an emergency [illegible] shipment stating "Coal can [illegible] be authorized on written [illegible]ment of individual shippers [illegible] the needs of customers [illegible] less than 10 days supply of [illegible]

The mayor said he interpreted [illegible] statement to mean that Mar[illegible] with less than a 10 day supply must make written [illegible]ments to their dealers show[illegible] their coal needs. These cer[illegible] are necessary before [illegible] dealer can obtain coal through [illegible] solid fuel administration.

Marion industrial heads yester[illegible] discussed the possibilities of [illegible] coal supplies from in[illegible] to homes without coal, [illegible] coal used by industries is a [illegible] grade steam coal and would [illegible] no use for domestic con[illegible]sumption, they pointed out.

Industrial Situation

Coal shortages also were be[illegible] to tighten around Marion [illegible]dustries. One small Marion in[illegible] reported it will be forced [illegible] down in ten days because [illegible] lack of coal. Another small [illegible] reported it would be out [illegible] two weeks. None of the [illegible] industries, however, have [illegible] than a three-week supply on [illegible] and no major Marion in[illegible] depends on coal for power.

In discussing the coal shortage [illegible], officials have pointed out [illegible] situation is different from [illegible] which has ever faced the city

Emergency Coal Available Only Through Written Order

To enable Marion residents with less than a 10-day coal supply to get additional stocks, Mayor Harry L Dowler today asked that they fill out the above certificate and present it to their coal dealer. The certificates are necessary in order that coal dealers may get emergency supplies through the solid fuels administration.

The mayor's action followed receipt of a wire from the solid fuels administration in Cleveland in reply to his wire of last week asking for emergency coal supplies for Marion. The administration informed the mayor that coal could only be authorized on written statements of individual coal dealers showing the needs of their customers. The administration's wire read "Coal can only be authorized on written statement of individual shippers showing needs of customers with less than 10 days supply of fuel."

A similar reply from the solid fuels administration was received late yesterday by Charles Buente, president of the Marion Retail Coal Dealers association. Mr Buente reported today that Marion coal dealers had exhausted their coal stocks and there was no way of replenishing them except through application to the solid fuels administration.

ALL GALION INDUSTRY TO BE CLOSED DOWN

Plants To Suspend Thursday To Meet Coal Emergency.

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 3—All industrial activity in this city of 10,000 population will stop Thursday to conserve what little coal remains for the operation of the city hospital, the water system and the disposal plant.

Mayor William Amann told industrial heads here by telephone yesterday that all plants would have to shut down if the city was to continue to operate its emergency institutions. The mayor was meeting with industrial representatives this afternoon to work out final arrangements for the shutdown, which will idle hundreds of Galion workers. The mayor also has issued a plea to residents to take every measure possible to conserve fuel and power.

Charles Geiger, director of lights and power, said today the city has only a five or six day coal supply on hand, and he said all industries here would remain closed until additional coal was obtained. It is only by shutting down industries that Galion will be able to operate its hospital, water and disposal plant, he said.

Ohio Communities Set Special Emergency Coal Crisis Steps

Emergency measures to combat [illegible] weather spread over the [illegible] today as soft coal supplies [illegible] to shrink because of [illegible] stoppage in the mines.

At Cleveland, the East Ohio Gas Company announced reduc[illegible] of supplies to industrial [illegible] in Cleveland by 50 per cent. Company officials said they were [illegible]certain as to the effect use of [illegible] big inch and little big inch [illegible] would have on gas [illegible]

[illegible] F. Brown, business man[illegible] of the Cleveland school sys[illegible] told a special meeting of the board of education that schools could continue on a normal basis until Dec. 20, start of the Christmas holiday vacation.

Reports Expected

The Ohio Public Utilities commission expected reports today on coal supplies held by utility plants throughout the state. From them it was expected to determine how long it would be before rationing or electricity was necessary.

Commenting on conversion of the big inch and little inch pipelines to gas, C. E. Weaver, president of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company said it would help the current fuel famine, but that it was not the answer. Weaver said that the Panhandle Eastern Pipelines faced a peak load shortage of 117,000,000 cubic feet each day and that 51,000,000 cubic feet of that amount went to customers without other fuel sources.

Paul Weiland, state public utilities commissioner, said lease of the pipelines to the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Co. of Dallas, Texas, was "good news."

The Detroit Harvester company's Zanesville plant placed into effect today a 25-hour, five-day week because of steel shortages, caused by the mine walkout. The plant employs about 500 persons.

Elliott Roosevelt May Be Called in Red Quiz

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3—Investigation of alleged subversive activities in Hollywood will be opened today by a house committee on un-American affairs, whose chairman said Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president, would be subpoenaed, if possible, to testify concerning remarks he is reported to have made in Moscow.

Committee Chairman Rep. John S Wood (D-Ga) said he understood Roosevelt would be back in the states Dec 18.

Wood said a number of film colony figures would be called. The meetings will be closed, he added, because "the radicals gang up on us with their heckling."

ERIE CLOSES REPAIR SHOPS AT HORNELL

About 800 To Be Laid Off in Coal Emergency.

The Erie railroad is closing its largest locomotive repair shops at Hornell, N. Y., at the end of the last shift tomorrow as a result of the coal emergency, according to The Associated Press today.

About 700 men will be laid off in the shops and another 100 in the roundhouse, railroad officials reported, out of a total of about 2,200 workers.

Erie officials here yesterday said yard crews were being reduced about two a day because of the slackened car movements. They also said some reduction had been made at the shops.

Antarctic Expedition Encounters High Seas

ABOARD THE U.S.S. MT. OLYMPUS, Dec. 3—Heavy seas made the going rough today as the Navy's Antarctic expedition pushed southward, heading for the Panama Canal.

Off Hatteras last night swells rolled the four ships of this contingent until dishes were smashed by the dozens.

The flotilla, which includes the flagship, a destroyer, a seaplane tender and an icebreaker, is due at Panama Saturday.

Japan's Unemployed Organize as Union

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Dec. 3—Japan's unemployed—or part of them—now have a union.

Representatives of jobless repatriates have set up an organization as yet unnamed and announced today plans to enroll 3,200,000 former soldiers, sailors and civilians returned from abroad. Their platform of 17 demands upon the government includes special issues of food and clothing this winter.

MORE STEEL MILLS CLOSED AT PITTSBURGH

Coal Strike Idles 150,000 Workers of Other Industries.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3—Fires were banked in more of the nation's steelmaking furnaces today as the 13-day strike of 400,000 AFL-United Mine Workers forced idleness on nearly 150,000 other workers.

In Pittsburgh, heart of the steel and soft coal industry, the Pennsylvania employment service reported an estimated 23,000 workers idled by the coal walkout will become eligible for jobless pay this week.

Coal-using railroads felt the pinch of dwindling fuel supplies, laying off an additional 6,400 workers. The Southern railroad at Washington, D C, laid off 5,000, the Baltimore and Ohio an additional 1,062, and the Norfolk and Western and the New York Central 350 at Columbus.

Optimistic Note Sounded

But an optimistic note was sounded by officials of the Illinois Central railroad where 1,100 workers returned to their jobs yesterday at the road's Paducah, Ky, shops.

"We feel we are in good shape," said H K. Buck, the Memphis terminal superintendent, adding Illinois Central now is loading 600 to 650 carloads of coal in the Kentucky field daily for operation of the trains.

Steel mills, deprived of vital coke supplies, announced new furnace shutdowns. In Youngstown, Ohio, only 35 of 83 open hearths and 9 out of 26 blast furnaces were operating today.

Steubenville Plant Down

The Wheeling Steel Corp, reduced coke-making 37 per cent, shutting down one blast furnace and three of 10 open hearths in the Steubenville, Ohio division. The company declined to estimate the number of workers laid off.

National Tube Co. at Lorain, Ohio, shut down two of five blast furnaces while Republic Steel at Cleveland laid off another 350 workers for a total of 900.

South of the Mason-Dixon line, the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Rail Co. banked another blast furnace, leaving only 8 of 20 operating in the Alabama district, and another open hearth, to keep 13 of 26 in operation there.

The company said a shortage of industrial gas had forced closing of its Bessemer rolling mill and sheet, merchant, cotton tie, and structural mills.

Alabama Hit Hard

Alabama counted among those idled by the coal strike, 8,000 steelworkers, 14,000 workers in cast iron pipe shops and 1,000 railroad and other employes.

In Schenectady, N Y, General Electric Corp. laid off 700 more workers today bringing its idle total to 1,200. J. M. Howell, general works manager, said if the strike continues, one-half of General Electric's 22,000 workers would be forced out of jobs.

The Doehler-Jarvis Corp., largest Batavia, N. Y., industry, closed at noon yesterday because of the fuel shortage, throwing 1,000 men out of work.

Cut Trees for Fuel

In Colorado where trees were being cut for fuel in the Denver shelter belts, the Colorado Fuel and Iron Corp. laid off 115 of its 5,000 workers.

At Zanesville, Ohio, the Detroit Harvester Co. announced a 25-hour week would go into effect today because of a steel shortage. The company employs about 500.

Ickes Called To 'Inch' Quiz

Congress Committee Seeks Testimony of Former Secretary.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—While the government pressed plans to turn the big and little-inch pipelines into gas conveyors during the coal strike, a congressional committee called Harold L. Ickes today to hear his ideas on ultimate disposal of the war-built lines.

Oil and gas interests are vying for permanent use of the $145,000,000 project that Thurman Arnold, former head of the justice department anti-trust division described as "the Muscle Shoals of the Second World War."

In current hearings, the house surplus property committee hopes to develop conclusions as what would be the best use, from the standpoint of national good.

Ickes as wartime fuels administrator directed the construction of the huge oil lines running 1,500 miles from the southwest to the eastern seaboard.

The decision to move gas through the lines during the government's struggle with mine chief John L. Lewis was announced yesterday. Interior Secretary J. A. Krug told the committee natural gas would begin moving within five or six days and would help relieve the fuel shortage caused by the coal strike. The lines have been idle since the war.

Chairman Slaughter (D-Mo) told newsmen the decision "indicates the government is planning a finish battle" with Lewis.

The interior secretary said the lines would be operated on an emergency basis under a four months lease to the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Co, and that the government expected to make $1,000,000 profit on the deal. The company will pay six cents rental for each 1,000 cubic feet of gas delivered.

However, Krug admonished that while "gas can be a help" in the coal crisis, "it is not the answer." He pointed out that the lines can move the fuel equivalent of only 6,000 tons of coal a day, while normal coal production exceeds 2,000,000 tons a day.

"In the next five or six days," he said, "we can be moving 50,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas through the lines daily. In two or three weeks this can be stepped up to 100,000,000 and in about 45

New Gallaher Drug Co. Store Here To Be Opened Thursday

President of Company Says New Establishment One of Largest of Its Kind in Mid-West.

The Gallaher Drug Co will open Thursday morning in its new L-shaped building fronting on West Center and South Main streets.

The one-story building, work on which was started in April, will afford 7,538 square feet of floor space. According to J. F. Gallaher, president of the Gallaher Drug Co, who is here for the opening, the new store will be the largest drug store in Ohio, if not in the entire midwest.

The building stands on sites formerly occupied by the Bennett building on West Center street and another building on South Main street. Frontage on both Main and Center streets is 35 feet.

Gallaher's has been temporarily located on South Main street, next to the new location. Their store was on West Center street for many years, until they were forced to move by expansion of the Kresge Co. last spring. The new store contains about four times as much floor space as their West Center street location. Formerly employing 13 persons, the company will now employ more than 75. Volume of merchandise has increased proportionately, according to George W. Ginn, Marion manager.

New Lines Added

Among new lines of merchandise to be carried, Mr. Ginn said, are stationery, wine, books, greeting cards and babies' supplies.

A lunch counter and soda fountain with 38 stools and 10 booths has been installed. There are also doughnut and popcorn departments.

One of the features of the store will be murals of Marion scenes and industries displayed at intervals on the walls.

Show window space is confined to West Center street. The entire front of the store on South Main street and almost the entire front of West Center is composed of window glass. Doors are also of glass.

The floor is composed of terrazo and the ceiling of acoustical tile. Lighting is fluorescent. The store is air conditioned.

First Store Here in 1929

The store will be open seven days a week from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. on weekdays and will employ four pharmacists.

The Gallaher Drug Co. opened its first store in Marion in 1929. The company's 46 stores are located throughout Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. The home office is at Dayton.

The Marion store was designed and built by M. K. Wood, executive vice president. He is here now to assist in readying the store for its opening. G. P. Cutter is assistant manager.

MINE CHIEF ASSAILS RETURN TO "RULE BY COURT ORDERS"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers were held "guilty of contempt of court" today for disregarding an order designed to avert the industry-shattering soft coal strike.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, who handed down the historic verdict after five days of court proceedings, deferred sentences until tomorrow.

The penalties in fines or jail sentences are within the discretion of the court. The law sets no maxima or minima in contempt cases.

Opposing attorneys were directed by Judge Goldsborough to submit their recommendations tomorrow at 10 a. m.

The jurists' finding of "guilty of contempt of court" ended one phase of the government's legal drive to get the 400,000 soft coal miners back on the job. Still on tap is the government's request to make the restraining order a temporary injunction.

It was uncertain whether the judge tomorrow would issue a ruling on this.

Lewis Makes First Statement

The overnight adjournment was announced after Lewis, making his first public utterance since before the 13-day old strike, had spoken out against this "ugly recrudescence of government by injunction."

He referred to the court's restraining order directing him to withdraw his contract termination notice, which led to the strike.

Lewis declared the order deprived the miners of their constitutional rights as American citizens.

Pending sentence, Goldsborough directed that Lewis go free of bond, in custody of his counsel.

AFL General Counsel Joseph A Padway protested indignantly.

"The court did not need to add 'in custody of counsel.'"

Lewis, Padway said, will be in court of his own free will at any time the judge orders.

UMW Separately Guilty

In announcing his verdict, Goldsborough emphasized that Lewis was guilty both individually and as president of UMW, and that UMW was separately guilty.

Then he said quietly that having found Lewis guilty of contempt, he considered the question of sentence "of course very important."

"While it may be somewhat unusual, but certainly not improper," he said, "the court would like to have the views of counsel for the defendants and counsel for the government as to what these sentences should be."

Neither the government nor defense lawyers would discuss with reporters the question of penalties.

Lewis Withholds Comment

When Lewis was asked for comment, he merely shook his head slightly and turned away.

After the judge announced his verdict, Lewis asked for and was granted permission to make a statement.

"The history of labor injunctions prior to 1932 is a sordid one," Lewis began in somber tones.

It was Lewis' first public statement since before the soft coal strike began on Nov. 20.

Lewis stood facing the judge, with his broad back to the crowded courtroom.

Turns to Issues

After reviewing a history of government statutes forbidding courts to restrain strikes, he turned quickly to coal strike issues and inveighed against "the deadly brutal 54-hour work week in American coal mines."

Lewis asserted the UMW had been impelled to announce termination of its contract with the government on Nov. 15. This step led to the coal strike and the contempt proceedings against Lewis and the UMW.

After his announcement that the contract was ended, Lewis said, the government "in violation of the Norris LaGuardia (anti-injunction) act asked for a restraining order and it was granted "without notice and without hearing."

Sonorously he went on, denouncing "this coercive and all-embracing restraining order," which he was accused of ignoring.

Hits Rule by Injunction

Speaking "officially" as president of the UMW and vice president of the AFL "with 8,000,000 members," Lewis said he could not subscribe to "this ugly recrudescence of government by injunction."

Addressing the court, he said: "Your injunction, sir, I respectfully submit, deprives the miners of these constitutional rights, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly, and freedom from involuntary servitude.

"The miners and I stand upon these constitutional rights as American citizens.

"The miners are law-abiding, God-fearing citizens," he said and have only "asserted their rights as citizens."

As he finished and stalked to a seat behind his lawyers, Judge Goldsborough shuffled papers quietly for a minute while the courtroom buzzed.

Clark Calls On Truman

Attorney General Clark made an unscheduled call at the White House at 10:30 a. m. Reporters promptly asked press secretary Charles G. Ross whether Mr. Truman was discussing the coal situation with Clark. Ross replied he did not know. In response to another question, Ross said there was nothing new on coal from the White House end.

The government rested its case last night.

The sudden union move was announced by chief United Mine Workers counsel Welly K. Hopkins, after federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough had admitted documentary evidence against the union chief.

This evidence, offered by the government, consisted of a United Mine Workers' brief in a previous proceeding contending that the government operates the mines in its role as "sovereign."

Contrary To Claim

The brief, filed in September in the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company case, was contrary to Lewis' claim in the present action in which his attorneys have tried to show the mines actually are being run by their private owners, under federal su-

But you'd marvel that it doesn't, if you could see all that goes on to produce it!

You'd see fleets of trains and trucks rushing from dairy farm to milk depot; you'd see armies of men at work to handle it—dairy operators, plant attendants, engineers, laboratory technicians, trained executives; you'd see the most amazing "housekeeping"—twelve hours of scrupulous clean-up after every eight hours work; you'd see a series of check-ups suggestive of a spy hunt—check-ups for temperature, alkalinity, bacteria count, butterfat, flavor, clarity, odor.

CITY LOAN MERGER IS ANNOUNCED AT LIMA

Now Ohio's Third Largest Savings and Loan Association.

Headquarters of the City Loan organization in Lima announced today the consolidation of its two affiliated companies, making it the third largest savings and loan association in the state with total resources of approximately $30,000,000.

The original "City Loan" was incorporated under the name of the City Loan and Savings company in Wapakoneta, in 1912. It started in a small upstairs office with assets of less than $20,000. Today 100 ground floor offices are maintained in all principal cities and towns of Ohio, including Marion. The company now ranks among the top five personal finance firms in the country, yet it operates solely within Ohio.

Each office is locally managed. Odell Thompson is in charge of the company's office here.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Symptoms

Nature, like the good housekeeper, follows the old rule of a place for everything and everything in its place. Thus in the healthy body each organ in the abdominal cavity is assigned its allotted space, where it can do its work without crowding or pressure. If it is to function properly, it must remain there, supported by well-toned muscles and adequate fatty pads. Ordinarily it does, but sometimes certain organs, such as the stomach or bowel, may lose their supports and drop out of position.

When this happens, the symptoms which occur are often misleading because they mimic those of much more serious disorders.

This condition is known as visceroptosis and, according to Dr. R. J. McNeill Love of England, it may be divided into two types. One he calls the maternal type, which results from repeated pregnancies or the removal of a large tumor within the abdomen. As a result, the muscles within the wall of the abdomen lose their strength and become flabby, which allows the abdominal organs to drop out of position.

He calls the second type the virginal type. In such instances the symptoms commonly begin in childhood. The patient is usually thin, with weak muscles. In both types such things as indigestion, excessive gas formation, and poor appetite are common symptoms. The symptoms are not relieved by diet or the taking of alkali such as baking soda. They are made worse by prolonged standing and tiredness. In visceroptosis the symptoms usually are relieved to some extent when the patient lies down.

Patients who have visceroptosis are usually of the nervous type. They often complain of terrible pains in the abdomen and a sinking feeling. In order to make a diagnosis of this disorder, X-rays of the stomach and bowels should be taken. Gallstones, ulcer of the stomach, cancer, kidney stones and even appendicitis may produce symptoms like those of visceroptosis. Thus the need for careful study is apparent when the symptoms of visceroptosis are present.

In treating visceroptosis, operations were at one time recommended. However, it would appear that such operations are, as a rule, unnecessary. The two measures which seem to be most important are to strengthen the muscles of the abdomen by exercise and to have the patient gain weight. A supporting belt is also helpful in many cases. It is recommended that the patient eat small meals and not drink a great deal of water with the meals. If possible, he should also rest half an hour after meals with the foot of the bed raised. Certain acid mixtures may be taken to improve the appetite and aid digestion.

1948 Cars To Start In Sub-Zero Weather

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Dec 3—Among the things to look for in the 1948 model automobiles will be engines that will start as readily in sub-zero temperatures as in mid-summer weather.

If current indications are correct this will be achieved through the installation—as an integral part of the power plant—of a toy-size oil burner designed to keep the collant in the engine water-jacket at a constant temperature automatically whether the engine is operating or standing idle.

Ward's automotive reports, first to report development of the device, describes it as a product of the engineering department of General Motors Truck and Coach division, and calls it "a forward step in automotive vehicle design potentialities of almost revolutionary scope."

By The Associated Press

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Dec. 3—The 2,400 public school students who normally attend Coal township's 10 schools had another holiday today—the teachers were still on strike.

The teachers are asking higher wages, and John Mangle, president of the local union of the CIO-United Public Workers, said last night that the two-day-old strike would continue until the school board grants a $300 bonus and yearly increases in salaries.

Theodore Mersberger, superintendent of schools, stated the teachers' demands had the sympathy of the school board, but there was no money to grant the wage increases.

in that the coal strike began as winter arrived, placing an immediate strain on what stocks were already in local dealers' yards.

Under the government's emergency measures coal can only be used for domestic consumption, leaving public institutions, businesses, schools, and industries to rely on what reserve stocks they may have had.

Hospital Supply Low

Marion City hospital today was down to a week's supply of coal, but officials there said they had been promised more this week and indicated there was no immediate danger of running out.

Father William J. Spickerman reported yesterday that St. Mary school will close Dec. 13 because of the lack of coal. Marion's public schools have a sufficient supply to run until the Christmas holidays, according to E. E. Holt, Marion school superintendent, but he added that large stocks will be needed after that time.

The coal supply at the Eagles building at Orchard and West Center street, housing the city offices have only about an eight day coal supply if the present cold weather continues, according to reports.

Criticism of U. S. German Zone Held To Be Based on Hearsay.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—A Republican decision to make public a staff investigator's "confidential" report on conditions in the American occupation zone of Germany widened an already gaping party-line split in the senate war investigating committee.

Chairman Kilgore (D-WVa) criticized the decision by the four G.O.P. committee members—Brewster (R-Me), Ball (R-Minn), Ferguson (R-Mich) and Knowland (R-Calif). He declared it is not a committee report, but one by a committee employe, and is based in part on "hearsay evidence."

In addition, Kilgore read reporters a letter from Secretary Patterson expressing the war department's opposition to release of the report.

"Gives Distorted Picture"

"As written" Kilgore quoted Patterson as saying, "this report gives a distorted and frequently erroneous picture of the military government in Germany.

"From information available it appears that the subject matter of the report is based upon unsworn statements and in many cases upon hearsay evidence."

Despite the uproar, Kilgore told reporters he has not the slightest intention of resigning the chairmanship of the committee. Kilgore is due to be displaced by Senator Brewster, however, when Republicans take over majority control of the senate next month.

Report Made After Trip

The report in question was made by committee counsel George Meader after a trip to Germany. Purported extracts have been published in several quarters. The Republicans' principal argument for release of the entire report was understood to be that inaccurate impressions have been produced by the piecemeal leaks. On that premise, they gave copies to reporters yesterday with the stipulation that they could be made public Wednesday.

Kilgore said he did not know how portions of the report had become available earlier to "certain favored members of the press."

Published accounts have declared the report contains charges of widespread misconduct by occupation troops, by Negro soldiers and German women, of very high venereal disease rates, of low quality replacement troops; of an influx of large numbers of Jewish refugees into the American zone, and of the refusal of many thousands of displaced persons to be repatriated from the American zone, where their care is being paid for by United States taxpayers.

Hearing Plans Advanced

Plans for hearings in Europe by a subcommittee were well advanced before the open appearance of opposition from the war and state department which finally resulted in cancellation of the inquiry.

When the matter finally came down to a committee vote last week, the excursion was rejected 6 to 4. The Democratic majority voted solidly against it. The state and war department had made it known they considered the investigation ill-advised at this time in view of the peace negotiations under way in New York.

The Republicans, who meanwhile had won the election, were sharply critical of the majority's decision and began demanding release of the Meader report.

Kilgore said a committee member approached him on the matter last Friday, but that he declined to sanction publication of the report without the approval of the whole committee.

The four Republican members decided to go ahead regardless. Along with copies of the report, they gave reporters transcripts of four closed committee sessions on the investigation.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1946

Elliott 'n Andy

FROM a purely academic point of view, two Americans named Elliott Roosevelt and Andrew Jackson Higgins have been caught off base by talking out of turn about foreign policy with representatives of other governments. As they may not know, there's a law about that sort of thing.

Beyond and above—or below—the academic point of view, these two gentlemen have embarrassed all of us by conduct unbecoming Americans. Elliott popped off at a banquet in Moscow, belittling the motives and policies of his government, then tried to squirm off the hook by charging he was framed and misquoted, the usual line of lame apology mumbled by public characters who talk with their feet in their mouths.

Andy, who made his reputation during the war as a shipbuilder, did no squirming, which is to his credit. Confronted with a report that he had been conniving with Argentina's Juan Peron to oust Spruille Braden as assistant-secretary of state for Latin America, he said he had and further declared that he personally had carried a letter from Peron to President Truman on the matter of military pacts. Andy hates Spruille Braden and thinks Peron is quite a fellow.

Neither of these Americans can see why any wrong doing was involved. Both think it's a shame the nosy press turned the spotlight on them. Both think what they said in private about public affairs was their own business, which sounds strange coming from Elliott, who recently told everything he could remember about private conversation he overheard when his father was living.

Potomac Miasma

PAUL PORTER'S abandonment of OPA in its death flurries comes as close to marking the end of an era as anything that could have happened in Washington.

Porter was the last of the four men who took credit and blame for the regimentation of consumers in the field of retail trade. The first, Leon Henderson, was elbowed out of the government by the end of 1942, after he had tangled with congressmen and other administrative officials. Henderson was one of the first wartime administrators to make it clear that the war abroad had brought no truce in the war at home. His successor was Prentiss Brown of Michigan, who made no particular impression and, therefore, was succeeded by Chester Bowles, who had made a deep impression with his rationing program in Connecticut. Bowles took over in October 1943 and did not permit himself to be overlooked thereafter, until his resignation at the end of last July. As his successor, Porter tried to carry on the Bowles tradition and did so, to the extent of making himself as objectionable to his critics as his predecessor had become when he finally resigned.

With the exception of Brown, these three men who took charge of consumer regimentation all fell victim eventually to obvious cases of pernicious Potomac Miasma, the curious affliction of public officials that makes them think they suddenly know what is wrong with the country and how to fix it. With Henderson, Bowles and Porter, this affliction led to a conviction that the main thing wrong with the country was that it needed to be disciplined by men named Henderson, Bowles and Porter.

The American public owes them a debt of gratitude for their willingness to perform a patriotic duty, but most of the American public which is not affiliated with any of the societies for the advancement of authoritarian rule in the United States feels they get their patriotism mixed up with their desire to rearrange the American way of life. Their era's end was overdue.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Why Has Molotov Changed His Tune?

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—If you fit the pieces of the currently puzzling news together, they will not be perplexing. Like the roving curves of jigsaw items, they fit together in a picture.

For instance, commentative gushing reached new torrents when Russia's Molotov decided to accept, in principle or otherwise, certain agreeable provisions on Trieste, the Danube and world disarmament. Peace had arrived! Russia had given in! No more wars! No incessant nagging over non-essentials in diplomacy! Just one happy world! So said the commentators who did not look beneath the surface of these events or count the teeth in the Russian gift horse.

Scared by Election?

Studious diplomats privately thought the Russians had changed because of the American elections. The Republican victory scared Russia into knowledge that her opposition was rising in this country. She could well afford to—and did—drop her diplomatic belligerency and bullying on the three issue for the following reasons:

(A) The Trieste question did not affect Russia at all but only the ambitions of Yugoslavian Communists in a minute state of no great world consequence — Communist ambitions which might be accomplished otherwise.

(B) Free trade on the Danube is largely a theoretical question for us because we have no boats and cannot take advantage of it. The river is ruled by a commission of adjacent states (several controlled by Russia), would be open practically only to those who own the boats, namely the same adjacent states, but not to the United States or Great Britain, except in theory that their hopes might develop some Danube trade in the future. Today Russia controls Rumania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia and is overwhelmingly strong in Czechoslovakia, so she will not even lose anything by a Danube agreement.

(C) Russia only agreed "in principle" to atom bomb and disarmament inspection by a UNO commission, which would presumably find out first how many atom bombs we have and get information Russia has otherwise been demanding about other armies. A famous agreement "in principle," which never became fact, was her treaty with us in 1933, when she took recognition of Russia from us, promising to pay the World War I debts of her nationals to us. Those debts have never been paid. She got recognition, we never got our half of the bargain.

So what has been advertised as a great and mystifying Russian concession to us and to world peace is far less than sensational. The gushing which has been done, particularly on the radio, is wholly unwarranted by the plain facts of the matter.

Losing Strength Here

But, in truth, far more than the Republican victory worries the Russians. In their struggle for world conquest, which may now become somewhat genial, at the top at least, they know they are losing strength inside our own state department. The real meaning of the isolated news items you may have read about Peron in Argentina, predicting an end of capitalism, and the American boatman Higgin's letters to Senators Connally and Vandenberg protesting rough treatment by us of Latin America, are really directed toward the inner invisible hide of Assistant State Secretary Braden. He is the father of the tough policy in Latin America, a policy which has not been successful in gaining our ends, at least not in Argentina. In an official quarter, I hear that possibly our ambassadors in Argentina and Brazil, (Messrs Messersmith and Pauley) have either written congressmen themselves, or let friends write, raising some question about Braden policies (perhaps only one did, according to one source) In any event the Braden policy is not entirely popular, is not successful and is being opened again to question, particularl on the outside by the columnist Sumner Welles, who has advocated conciliation in Latin America instead of fighting fascism without fighting communism, which is the Braden technique, redounding as it does to the advantage of communists.

Developments Elsewhere

Now the Communist victory in the French election has led to talk of returning DeGaulle to stop communism. In Britain, the Labor party mutineers have made some sort of temporizing apology to their Attlee, but strangely not to Bevin. In Argentina, Peron is promoting his dictatorial five-year plan by talking about the necessity for centralized economic controls under whatever name it is called. In China, Chiang says he wants to stop being a generalissifno (same title Stalin has), but actually he wants to be invited to be what he has been to stop communism.

Piece these curving bits together and see if you do not reach the same conclusion I did, namely: Most people in this world will not take communism, whether genial or not, but are dismayed by difficulties of democracy in coping with it, and are reaching for a new political movement which would be Christian but effectively resistent.

I think this explains why Molotov gave in and changed his tune.

Pretty and Prim And Powerful?

Weight lifters make the best wives, according to the winner of a recent Mr. America contest held in Detroit.

This comes as a surprise to most bachelors. They've been looking for a girl who could knock them off their feet . . . but only figuratively.

In the latter case, bulges are indicated. But not about the biceps.

In fact, it is seldom indeed that one finds a young lady simultaneously muscle and altar-bound.

Female weight lifters may well become the rage. But, for my part, I'll string along with the old idea that the ideal bride need be able to heft nothing heavier than a skillet.

A gent married to a blacksmithess or lady piano mover would have to watch his step lest, becoming irked, she start throwing HIS weight around.

Is This a Buyer's Market?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

SINCE it is of extreme importance to congressional budget-makers to make no mistake in anticipating next year's income, it might be well that they take account of what one economist calls the "poisonous point." That "point," says the economist, is that which is passed when a seller's market changes to a buyer's market. "Yesterday," he says, "you may have had great over-demand and duplication of orders. This morning everything is changed. Customers refuse to take low-grade commodities at all. They want good ones at lower prices. You may be passing over the line while you sleep."

There are plenty of signs that the "poisonous point" is being approached in many lines of business and that, when the Christmas rush is over, we shall have reached it quite generally.

Department stores, still enjoying Christmas business, begin to advertise astonishing price reductions. Women in New York, and presumably elsewhere, receive the sudden thrill one morning of seeing hats offered at half price. Furs are down, and so are small diamonds.

Also Potatoes

The more prosaic potato joins these luxuries on the bargain counter. The secretary of agriculture has to buy potatoes at supprices and cannot sell them, dehydrated or not, to foreign buyers. The story comes from a reliable source that an industrial user has bought potatoes at $5 per car.

The textile industries report big cancellations of orders. So do the furniture people. Book sales are diminishing.

Variety reports a movie-goers' revolt at further hikes in admission prices. A recent new picture on Broadway, offered for view at over $2, flickered to empty seats. The price came down forthwith.

Much of this revolt may be due to the drain on pocketbooks for other assorts of goods. Economists are seldom united on anything, but now their differences in viewing 1947 are matters of degree. Some expect a mild recession; some, a more important one. None will now say, as some said a year ago, that five years of uninterrupted prosperity are ahead.

Signs Readable?

In any event, congress must not count on an ever-growing income. Nor should union leaders make their plans on the assumption that full employment, partly bolstered by great sums spent for the new armament race, will go on. In such a situation, even the most friendly "fact finding" boards are going to have trouble justifying new wage concessions. The situation of labor, unionized or not, cannot be so easy when supply exceeds demand.

It is difficult, in the face of these well-known circumstances, to anticipate a 1947 wave of strikes. Can union leaders, despite the heady wine of power to which they are addicted, still read the signs of the times?

So They Say—

"To yearn for the average times of 1930s is equivalent to asking for depressions in the 1940s and 1950s."—Stanley S. Surrey, U. S. Treasury tax legislative counsel.

It was a sorry day at Bikini for stacks and masts. As a consequence, these will either have to be strengthened or eliminated. Hulls also must be strengthened and ship interiors must be completely changed.—Vice-Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, Operation Crossroads commander.

"We should try to make the status of a wage earner that of a partner rather than that of an irresponsible employe."—Winston Churchill, addressing the English Conservative party congress.

Government's Methods Weak

By WALTER LIPPMANN

NOTHING is to be gained by an endurance contest as to who can stand the coal strike the longer. This is no way to assert the authority of the government, and it will be much better to admit frankly and promptly that the laws as they now stand, and the government as now administered, are insufficient to deal with a labor leader like John L. Lewis and a strategic monopoly like the United Mine Workers.

The next congress will then know with what it has to deal and in the menantime a settlement, though it means a defeat for the government, will avert incalcuable suffering and economic ruin.

The government has refused, for reasons that are not clear, to use all its powers in an effort to enforce the law. It has failed by the action it has taken to obtain from Lewis either the observance of the contract, or even a recognition that the meaning of the contract should be impartially adjudicated. The law has been defied successfully.

That being the situation, the authority of the government is not being preserved by subjecting the people and the miners to a grueling contest which is causing irreparable damage to this country and to the world. That will merely prolong the demonstration that the government is unable to assert its authority and to protest the public interest.

Time for Action

The time has come, therefore, to go to congress for laws that can be enforced and that do protect the public interest. Since congress can not pass these laws quickly enough to avert the ruin that this strike is causing, it is better for the government to accept defeat and let the mine operators settle as best they can. Lewis will have won his battle. But in the end the nation, having seen what it is up against, may win the campaign.

In a quite different and separate field the authority of the government is at stake in the controversy over an investigation of American military government in Germany to investigate. Secre-senators who are members of the Kilgore committee want to go to Germany to inxestigate. Secretary Byrnes, Senators Vandenberg and Connally do not want them to go.

The Republican senators have issued a statement saying that the committee is trying "desperately to conceal something wrong."

This is a curious accusation. One of the four Republicans who made it is Senator Ferguson of Michigan, and he is saying that his colleague, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, is trying "desperately to conceal something wrong" in order to protect the administration. But if Senator Vandenberg is trying to conceal a wrong, then Senator Ferguson should be opposed to his assuming the chairmanship of the foreign relations committee of the senate.

The real issue is whether conditions of military government in Germany should be investigated by the standing committee of the senate responsible for foreign relations or by a special committee which has no responsibility for foreign relations. There is no question of concealing wrongs, for Republicans will control all the committees of the senate.

Views of Senate

The views of the senate on the principle involved were expressed last spring when the senate voted in its version of the LaFollette-Monroney bill to prohibit entirely all special committees. In the final act this provision (Rec. 126) was deleted at the insistence of the house but, nevertheless, this may be taken as the disinterested judgment of the senate.

If Senator Vandenberg is to be chairman of the foreign relations committee, then there should not be another committee run by Senators Brewster, Ferguson, Ball and Knowland, interfering in foreign relations.

The substance of what Senator Brewster wants to investigate is known and has already been published. There are evils that call for correction. But sending Senator Brewster to Germany is no way to correct them. That will only humiliate the United States in the presence of the allies and of the German people, and make it appear—quite falsely—that American military government is specially and peculiarly bad. That is not true. But it would be made to seem to be true, and the effect on the negotiations for a German settlement would be wholly destructive.

Aircraft to Prefabs

WASHINGTON — Big aircraft manufacturing companies are being asked to consider entering the prefabricated housing field.

Housing Expeditor Wyatt conferred with West Coast manufacturers recently and will also talk to Glenn Martin in Baltimore on his plan for assembly-line production of light metal, one-to-four bedroom units, each company to turn out about 100,000 units. Government loans to finance the projects are contemplated, and the new federally guaranteed market system would be used. Two firms outside the aviation industry, one in the middle west and one in the east, have been given sizeable contracts under the market-guarantee program.

Mr. Wyatt is impressed by a private survey said to show aircraft builders could turn out 500,000 of these $8,000 houses annually with present facilities.

The Clayton act and the Norris-LaGuardia act clearly enumerates certain traditional union activities which shall not be restrained or enjoined by any court, among them being ceasing or refusing to perform any work or to remain in any relation of employment, and the giving of publicity to the facts involved in any labor dispute.

Asked Conferences

On Oct. 21 this union asked for conferences to discuss our grievances. Outstanding among these grievances which cries aloud for immediate adjustment is the deadly, brutal 54-hour work week underground in American coal mines. Our miners work at the operators' option, nine hours per day, six days per week, which is a longer work day and work week than prevails in the mining industry of any civilized country in the world. These disputes over working conditions in the mines were not resolved and the representatives of the United Mine Workers determined that the so-called Krug-Lewis agreement was breached. The representatives, after a period of 25 days, on Nov. 15, notified the secretary of the interior that the contract was terminated as of Nov. 20.

The agents of the government, in what we believe to constitute a violation of both the Clayton and the Norris-LaGuardia acts, applied for a temporary restraining order which this court granted without notice and without a hearing.

This court has now ruled that the Clayton and Norris-LaGuardia acts do not apply to this controversy. That is a matter for legal counsel to appraise and evaluate.

Constitution Cited

But above and beyond those statutes there is a federal constitution binding on all, even upon the government, and that constitution guarantees to the miners, as it does to all citizens, freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of assemblage and freedom from involuntary servitude.

Your injunction, sir, I respectfully submit, deprives the miners of these constitutional rights. As citizens the miners and I stand upon the rights guaranteed in the constitution. This is labor's traditional position. For the purpose of acquainting the court with the historical position taken by the American Federation of Labor, permit me to read a paragraph from a report unanimously adopted by the American Federation of Labor at its 1919 convention:

"The fate of the sovereignty of American people again hangs in the balance. It is inconceivable that such an autocratic, despotic and tyrannical power can long remain in a democracy. One or the other must ultimately give way, and your committee believes that this convention should declare that, as wage-earners, citizens of a free and democratic republic, we shall stand firmly and conscientiously on our rights as free men and treat all injunctive degrees that invade our personal liberties as unwarranted in fact, unjustified in law and illegal as being in violation of our constitutional safe-guards, and accept whatever consequences may follow."

This is still the declared and effective policy of the American Federation of Labor.

We are now confronted with the restraining order issued by this court November 18th, 1946, which this court holds that the United Mine Workers and I have violated. Most respectfully, I must state to the court that the considerations that prompted our original course of action with respect to this coercive and all embracing restraining order, issued without any opportunity given the defendants to present their side of the case, have not changed. On the contrary, recent events have greatly and acutely enhanced our initial conviction.

Hits Government by Injunction

Speaking and acting in my official capacity as president of the United Mine Workers, an organization composed of some six hundred thousand coal miners, and as vice president of the American Federation of Labor with a membership of almost eight millions of American wage earners, and profoundly mindful of their highest traditions and basic rights I cannot, by action or by inaction acquiesce in what must be described as the ugly recrudescence of "government by injunction." I cannot disavow labor's principles or policies, nor am I disposed to adopt a course which will inevitably amount to a betrayal of their constitutional rights.

The mine workers are God-fearing, law-abiding American citizens. They have not ceased work in defiance of their government. On the contrary they have asserted their rights as free men to protest the unjust and arbitrary acts to which they have been subjected by individuals employed by the government.

Without intending any personal disrespect to this court, I must respectfully but firmly stand upon those vital rights and freedoms that are rooted in our constitution and that have been given full expression by the congressional mandates of 1914 and 1932.

Mackenzie Calls Indian Problem Crucial Question

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

There's plenty to distract our attention here at home—what with the cold-wave to remind us of the wintry potentialities of the coal stoppage and the heavy gunfire in our UN, peace organization—but let's not overlook that impending Indian round-table conference which opened today in London.

DewittMackenzie

The Indian problem ranks among the vital issues of our time. Failure to reach a satisfactory solution might result in the catastrophe of civil war in that country.

That's a hard thing to have to say, but its true and it is well that we recognize the fact. The round-table conference is a momentous affair.

Three of the world's outstanding personalities have come out of the Far East to sit down in the British capital with government officials to try to figure out ways and means of bringing India's warring Hindus and Moslems together and thereby implementing England's offer of independence to that sub-continent with its four hundred millions.

There is Field Marshal Lord Wavell, viceroy of the king-emperor's greatest imperial possession. There is Pandit Nehru, the aristocratic Hindu who heads the present interim Indian government and, next to Mahatma Gandhi, is the most powerful leader in the country. There is Mohomed Ali Jinnah, brilliant and highly cultured head of the Moslem league, who guides the destinies of 90,000,000 Moslems.

Future Rests on Them

Upon those three men, more than upon any others, rests the immediate future of India. Wavell's role is largely that of conciliator. In the hands of those two political enemies, Jinnah and Nehru, is a terrifying power which it has been given few men to possess. Wavells part is even more difficult than that of the two Indian leaders, but he brings to it the gratifying spirit which we saw in his New Year's message to his troops in bloody 1941:

"Have you ever thought what a world we could make if we put into peace endeavors the same energy, the same self-sacrifice and cooperation as we use in the wastefulness of war?"

Here is the Indian situation in brief:

After much sparring and heart-burning both the Hindus and the Moslems agreed to participate in an interim government. Nehru was made chief minister of this provisional regime since he was president of the major political organization, the predominantly Hindu All-India Congress. Both Hindus and Moslems were given positions, and things got under way leading up to the meeting of a national assembly to frame a provisional constitution.

Old Animosities Flared

However, the old animosities broke out and the Moslems withdrew. They said they had no chance of fair treatment by the Hindus who outnumber the Moslems three to one. Therefore Jinnah reverted to his demand for Pakistan, that is, independent Moslem states. Both the Hindus and the British want to see a federal government under which will come all the provinces and states.

But this political break wasn't the worst of the situation. Terrible communal rioting has been going on for weeks in various centers between the Hindus and Moslems. Thousands of lives have been lost and great numbers have been injured.

In the face of all this Jinnah and Nehru were persuaded to accompany Wavell to London for the conference. Now it's the task of the meeting to bring them together in viewpoint, for they are the two men who have the influence—if anybody has—to control the communal warfare.

If the hand of peace doesn't reach out to stay this strife soon, there's no telling where the conflict may lead.

The probabilities are that Jinnah and Nehru could bring their followers into line, although it would be unwise to take this for granted. There are in both parties extreme left wingers who might challenge the leaders and try to create a civil war.

Do you think steel profits are big?

Recently in a nation-wide poll most people guessed that steel profits were about 20 cents on each dollar of sales. They said 10 cents would be about right.

Actually, for the past ten years steel company profits have averaged less than 5 cents on each dollar of sales.

Although profits continue low, wages, employment and production are near record levels.

EMPLOYMENT

The number of wage earners is not far from the highest in peacetime steel history—20 per cent above the 1929 level.

Byrnes, Bevin Announce German Occupation Areas To Be Merged.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—Secretary of State Byrnes, jointly announcing with Foreign Minister Bevin a British-American economic merger in Germany, declared today that he would ask the Big Four foreign ministers to discuss peace plans for Austria as well as Germany before ending their New York sessions.

Byrnes and Bevin said in a statement that the zone economic merger would become effective Jan 1, that it should make 40,000,000 Germans self-sufficient in three years and that they hoped it would lead to discussions with Russia and France for the economic unification of all Germany.

Byrnes discussed the radical new agreement, which diplomats consider the most important development in Allied policy on Germany since the occupation started, at a news conference. It was his first meeting with reporters since the foreign ministers council opened here a month ago.

Makes 5 Disclosures

He made these major disclosures.

1. The foreign ministers council, in his opinion, may wind up this week the peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland and proceed at once to a discussion of the German question.

2. On Germany, Byrnes intends to insist, as he had previously said he would, on a discussion of Germany's western frontiers—chiefly whether France should get the Saar and have the Ruhr internationalized.

3. The United States will ask that the Austrian question be taken up here. The main issue, diplomatic informants said, is whether an arrangement can be made for the early withdrawal of Russian and other Allied troops from Austria.

Adheres To Policy

4. Byrnes is adhering strictly to his policy—contrary to what the Russians want—that the Allied powers should not take any German reparations from current German production.

5. The probable result of the four-power talks on Germany here will be the appointment of a commission of deputies to do the spade work for a foreign ministers' meeting in Europe early next year. Byrnes will favor hearings on the German question for Belgium, the Netherlands, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Luxembourg, all of which have asked to be heard, but it is uncertain whether any of them will be allowed actually to participate in the German discussions.

2 Classes of Imports

The agreement provides for two classes of imports into the merged zone—those such as food and medicine for prevention of disease and unrest and those for the restoration of peaceful German industries.

Imports in the food category will cost the United States and Britain about $1,000,000,000 through 1949 but they are charging the sum on Germany's future account for ultimate collection, according to Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. deputy military chief in Germany.

The agreement will raise the American cost for German occupation by an estimated $100,000,000 in 1947 because the U S and Britain agreed to share on a fifty-fifty basis the net deficit of the two zones. The deficit for the British zone has been about $400,000,000 a year while that for the American zone is only about $200,000,000.

The main method for making the zones self-sufficient is to build up their exports to the rest of the world. In order to restore production of exportable goods, the U. S. and Britain have agreed to build up a fund of about $140,000,000, none of which will require appropriations from congress but will come rather from such sources as British and American loans, German funds in Sweden and the like.

The economic agreement provides for an increase in the German ration standard from 1,550 calories per person per day to 1,800 calories.

Clay reported that he had lined up fairly good shipments for December but faced tough problems in obtaining a satisfactory export rate.

The British-American economic agreement, Byrnes said, was worked out in a series of conferences in Washington with Assistant Secretary of State Hilldring, heading an American negotiation team including Clay and spokesmen for the state, war and treasury departments.

DOWNWARD DRIFT MARKED IN STOCKS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec 3—Downward tendencies continued in tday's stock market although liquidation remained notably timid.

Dealings quieted after a moderately active opening and early losses of fractions to a point or more were reduced in a number of cases near the fourth hour.

The court decision against John L. Lewis and the mining union failed to affect prices in the stock division. Commitments were lightened in numerous instances on the fear that industry will be hard hit if the fuel dispute is extnded.

Stumblers included U S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Telephone, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, U. S. Rubber, Chrysler, General Motors, Woolworth, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont, General Electric, Anaconda and Texas Co.

The Jones and Laughlin case involved unionization of supervisory employes at the mines.

The brief was admited over the strenuous objections of Joseph A. Padway, chief counsel of the AFL, who argued that it concerned events "long before" the present case.

The judge overruled him, remarking that "an inconsistent case may shed some light on the sincerity of a litigant."

Move To Strike Testimony

Lewis' attorneys then moved to strike all testimony given by government witnesses during the trial, now in its fifth day.

Goldsborough also denied this motion and ordered a 30-minute recess, during which the court and the defense were given opportunity to study a proposed verdict prepared by government counsel for consideration of the court.

The proposed finding was not made public.

Maintains Silence

Thus far Lewis has sat in rock-like silence, hardly shifting his bulk as he listened to government testimony that he broke off his contract illegally and caused a strike which already has thrown thousands out of work in coal-consuming industries and may have 5,000,000 idle if it lasts for another month and a half.

Other dire results, if the strike lasts that long, were forecast by officials of the commerce, treasury and interior departments summoned as government witnesses in yesterday's closing moments of court. They told the court.

That national production would drop 20 per cent, while 80 per cent of the first-class railroads would stop running.

Income To Fall

That national income would fall from a rate of $170,000,000,000 a year to $150,000,000,000.

That such an income slump would cost the government more than $5,000,000,000 in tax revenues.

That the economy would "suffer a collapse" if the strike lasted until March.

Girding for a possible long fight, the government moved to bring more gas into the fuel-starved eastern and central states by the big and little inch pipelines. Secretary of the Interior Krug said natural gas would start flowing eastward from Texas in "five or six days" But officials of the Texas railroad commission said Krug was optimistic. They said it might be six months before the pipelines, built for oil, could be converted to gas conveyors.

Equals 6,000 Tons of Coal

And the gas they can supply will amount in heat capacity to only about 6,000 tons of coal a day compared with the more than 2,000,000 tons the miners normally dig daily.

There was every indication that no move toward negotiations between Lewis and the mine owners would come from a meeting of the Southern Coal Producers Association here to discuss policy.

Instead, talk continued that some of the 29 directors favored removing Edward R. Burke as their president as a penalty for his statement last Thursday that the operators were ready and willing to talk with Lewis about wages, hours, and any other demands.

Sees Anti-Strike Bill

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), after calling on President Truman, quoted the President as saying he would "present to congress the strongest message he knows how to prepare" in favor of strike control measures.

Centuries-Old Bee Methods Still Used

Many of the methods of modern beekeeping were being used more than 300 years ago, Marion county beekeepers were told at their monthly meeting Monday at the Y.M.C.A.

The speaker was M. J. Deyell, of Medina, editor of the magazine "Gleanings in Bee Culture." He exhibited a book on beekeeping printed in England 312 years ago in which many of the methods described are identical with those used today. The book was printed in old English script. Mr. Deyell said it was part of a collection of 50 old books on bee culture gathered by the former editor of the beekeepers' magazine, which is edited in Medina.

Mr. Deyell also gave a talk entitled, "Did You Ever?" in which he enumerated 25 things which should or should not be done in the care of bees.

Walter Thomas of Medina spoke on "Experiments I Have Conducted," during which he described the feeding of dry sugar to bees in the spring. He is associated with a beekeepers supply company.

SOVIETS AWAIT NEW WORD ON U. S. PLANS

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec 3—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky was understood today to be awaiting instructions from Moscow before disclosing Russia's position on a United States proposal for a world-wide system of disarmament without veto power.

This development emerged as the United Nations grappled with their three most controversial issues—disarmament, the veto and Franco Spain—three problems on which there are demands for urgent action.

The discussion on disarmament was to be resumed this morning by the 51-member UN political and security committee on the basis of a United States' demand yesterday for a "comprehensive system of disarmament" which would include a system of control and inspection absolutely free from the veto now vested in the security council.

Vishinsky told the committee yesterday that the Soviet delegation was not prepared to discuss the U. S. proposal at that time.

The U. S rejected Russia's disarmament proposal as "too narrow and circumscribed."

U. S. Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex), told the committee that "the two objectives of the Soviet proposal are to get rid of the atomic bomb and then whatever regulations with regard to armaments may take place shall be vested in the security council, where the 'atomic bomb' of the veto awaits anything that may be undesirable to any member of the security council."

Widow Gets Free Meal

The widow and her kids get a free meal, all the forgotten and the lonely of the land are remembered. The people think of the veterans in the hospitals, the veterans under ground, the veterans unhoused and out of work—and give their sacrifices sober meed

Goodness laps around us in a universal tide.

Why? Why? And now come?

Because, dear fellow wine bottles, human nature isn't all sweet wine. We used up most of the wine at Christmas. Until time brings the new wine harvest, we're half dregs, cloudy, bitter and sour-grapey

Must Drain Off Dregs

So, to speed up the re-filling we need a big titanic day devoted to draining off the dregs. We had a day to be good. Let's have one to kick the dog on—a glorious day spent in telling off our neighbors, beating our wives, spanking the kids, cursing our friends, making faces at the boss, tripping mothers-in-law, and yelling "down with capital, labor, the government, world peace and the men who invented time clocks and the installment plan!"

We could call it "Anti-Santa Day," "Anti-Smile Day," "Poison Mom" day, "Who-Do-You-Think-You-Are-Anyway Day," "Why-Did-You-Come-Into-My-Life Day," "A-Lot-You-Care Day," "So-This-Is-What-I've-Been-Working-For-Day," or just plain "-hell-with-it-all" day.

Start March 15

Let's begin with the day income taxes fall due next March, just so everybody will start off on an even footing—mad

And next day we'd have Christmas back again in every heart

Either that or else we ought to quit making coat hangers out trees our zoo relatives need to swing from by their tails, still waiting for the time we climb up again and tell them

"Move over, cousin. The real depression's on!"

Point-a-Minute Men Make Up Associated Press All-Ohio Grid Eleve

By DON STULL

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3—Eleven new scholastic grid stars, making almost a point-a-minute combine, were chosen today on The Associated Press' 1946 all-Ohio high school football team.

AP All-Ohio Team

	Pos.
S. Gandee, Akron Garfield	E
N. Bolkovac, Yo'ngst'wn W. Wils'n	T
J. Weizer, Shaker Heights	G
J. Shaffer, Lima Central	C
T. Bell, East Liverpool	G
J. Beletic, Cleve. Cath. Latin	T
H. O'Brien, St'ub'nville Cent. Cath.	E
K. Sturtz, Coshocton	B
W. Gregus, Toledo Waite	B
D. Brill, Cincinnati Purcell	B
R. Pucci, Canton McKinley	B

The selections were made from the votes of more than 200 high school coaches, 50 officials and 50 sports writers, The Associated Press acting only as a ballot-counter.

The seniors and one junior, all from different schools and all making their first appearance on the all-star aggregation, were honored with places on the first string eleven, considered by the Ohio High School Coaches' association as the Buckeye state's official all-star team.

Accounted for 537 Points

Together, these boys accounted for 537 points during the season—an average of nearly 60-a-game for a nine-game campaign—but pointmaking alone didn't appear too important to the ballotmarkers.

The outstanding choice on the first eleven was the Coshocton Redskins' great back, Karl Sturtz, but he wasn't the top scorer of the lot. Sturtz tallied 17 touchdowns and 16 extra points for 118, finishing 17 points behind Ralph Pucci of Canton McKinley, who scored 18 touchdowns and 27 conversions in earning his place in the first-string backfield. Elida's Ralph Riegele outdistanced both of them with 189 points, but wound up on the third team.

Second and Third Teams

Second Team

	Pos.

Van Horn, Canton Timken	T
Bell, Logan	E
Celzma, Cleve. Cath. Latin	B
Nuxhall, Hamilton	B
Zorger, Massillon	B
Riegle, Elida	B

Sturtz, a three-time choice for all-conference honors in the tough Central Ohio league and a unanimous nominee this season, apparently was chosen for his all-around play.

His coach, Schuyler G. Wharton, says of him: "In my 22 years of coaching I've had a number of championship teams—six in the C. O. L.—and I've never coached a better all-around athlete."

Sturtz, who did most of his team's running, passing and kicking and was a defensive mainstay as a line-backer, was described by several officials as "the best boy seen this year."

Second to Sturtz in the balloting was Toledo Waite's great blocking, running and passing backfielder, William Gregus, who tallied 96 points, but was heralded most as a blocker.

Honorable Mention

Among those players receiving honorable mention for The Associated Press All-Ohio football team are:

Backs, Rife of Upper Sandusky; Lyle of Lima Central; Wedge of Carey; Brown of Kenton; Blubaugh of Lima Central and Horvath, Cline and Majors, all of Mansfield.

Guards, Johns of Newark; McAllister of Upper Sandusky; Schembechler of Barberton.

The fourth members of the first team backfield was Don Brill of Cincinnati Purcell, who never has played in a losing ball game in three years on the Purcell eleven. He's been the team's leading scorer in those three unbeaten seasons, and is a runner, passer, kicker, line-backer and pass-catcher as well, having grabbed six aerials for touchdowns. He scored 84 points this season.

Ends Add Punch

Adding to the scoring punch of the first team are its two six-foot ends—Sherwin Gandee of Akron Garfield and Hugh O'Brien of Steubenville Central Catholic. Both were fifth men in their teams' backfields, carrying the ball effectively on end-around plays. O'Brien performed as a passer, too, flipping one touchdown aerial. Gandee, who captained Garfield to city titles the last two years, was described by the Akron-Beacon Journal as "the best end ever developed in the city."

The outstanding choice on the first string line was Nick Bolkovac, a tackle on Youngstown Woodrow Wilson's unbeaten-untied team. Also the biggest player picked, Bolkovac, who weighs 205 pounds and stands better than 6 feet 1 inch, contributed 11 points after touchdown toward the mythical point-a-minute record. The other tackle was John Beletic of Cleveland Cathedral Latin's unbeaten Lions, a 195-pounder described as equally good on offense and defense.

One Junior on Team

The only junior selected was East Liverpool's Tom Bell, a guard on the Potters' unbeaten 1945 team whose coach says he stood out more on this year's team which won but three of games. At the other guard Bell was Jim Weizer of Sha Heights, whose popularity am the linemen was second on Bolkovac. Weizer also was ch on the Lake Erie league's a conference team and the a Cleveland scholastic eleven season.

Another top choice was J Shaffer, center of Lima Centr undefeated and untied team.

Two members of the first e en—Pucci and Gandee—placed The Associated Press' 1945 th string team. Another third str er last year—center Chester Da iels of Bellaire—moved up fr the third to the second club, wh Riegle, the leading scorer Elida's perfect team of the pa two seasons, made the seco team a year ago and was nam on the third this season.

St. Mary Basketball Season Opens with 48 to 36 Belting of Bucyru

Schuler Sparks Locals in First Win; Irish Reserves Triumph

By GEORGE ROEST

St. Mary wrested an early lead from the Bucyrus Redmen last night and in a fray which got progressively faster and rougher, downed them on their home floor 48 to 36.

This was the opening game for both schools and the Irish, besides playing aggressively hit for high percentage of their attempted field goals. The Irish Reserves won 26 to 16.

The brightest star of the game which produced several, among them Dick Drake of St. Mary and Jim Gallent of Bucyrus, was Dick Schuler, Irish right forward who flipped nine field goals through the net to lead scorers with 18 points. Gallant chalked up 14 points and Drake was next in line for scoring honors with 12 points. Jim Moloney also did his share by hitting for 11 points.

Bucyrus led off in scoring when Gallent hit for a two-pointer from beyond the foul line. Schuler evened things with a sucker shot from close in. Bucyrus then went out in front on two field goals by Miller and by Gallant. Drake hit with a push shot to make it four for the Irish.

Gallant then hit for a foul shot to increase the Redmen's lead. St. Mary made it 9 to 7 at the end of the first quarter on a basket by Schuler and a charity toss by Bray.

Schuler again accounted for a field goal and Drake stole the ball and dribbled in for another Moloney sank a foul shot and St. Mary now had a lead they weren't to relinquish throughout the rest of the contest. Gallent came through with a field goal for Bucyrus and Moloney chalked up one for the Irish followed by Gallent's hitting for another.

Drake and Schuler then scored field goals for St. Mary and Gallent dribbled in for the fifteenth Bucyrus point. The second quarter was wound up with Bray and Schuler connecting for two pointers, St. Mary leading 23 to 15.

Bucyrus Opens Scoring

Bucyrus opened scoring in the third period with Kimmery scoring a two pointer and Cress toeing the foul line for a point. After St. Mary had missed on several attempts the hosts worked the ball down into position once again, Cress racking up the goal. Stuber made a basket and Moloney chalked up another field goal.

Bucyrus had several more shots before Hertzer was able to drop one through, making it 22 to St. Mary's 27. Schuler scored for Marion and Kimmery hit with a free throw. Bucyrus scored again with Gallent dropping one in and Moloney scored the final goal of the third quarter which ended with St. Mary leading 31 to 24.

Big Fourth Quarter

The fourth quarter was to be the biggest for both clubs with 29 points being scored collectively, 17 by St. Mary and 12 by Bucyrus. Bucyrus opened scoring with Hertzer dropping in two field goals. Schuler pushed one in for the Irish and a Marion score followed with Moloney clicking for a charity. Cress racked up one for Bucyrus and St. Mary went down the floor immediately afterward, Drake dropping one through. Bucyrus retaliated with Cress again hitting for one from up close and St. Mary kept things going when Schuler came in fast to score.

Bucyrus couldn't hold the pace and Moloney racked up the fortieth Irish point. Kimmery scored a field goal and Schuler, Bray and Drake accounted for one each. Cress hit for Bucyrus, and Drake, sinking a hook shot made the final score 48 to 36 in favor of the Irish.

In the reserve contest the visitors held Bucyrus scoreless in the first quarter while scoring eight points. Dick Weis, regular center, and Bob Armbruster, substitute guard, were the big guns in reserve scoring, chalking up nine points apiece.

... however, it wasn't ... close. Of the 184 scribes ballotting for their selections for the top ten teams, as of the end of the season last Saturday, an even 100 voted for Notre Dame to head the parade, as against 48 for Army. Nine others, unable to decide, split their tickets and called it a tie between the two outfits which battled to a scoreless draw three weeks ago—the only blot on Army's otherwise all-conquering three-year run.

Of the other first place nominations, 23 went to unbeaten, untied Georgia, in third place in the final voting for the year, two went to the all-winning Bruins of the University of California at Los Angeles, who held fourth place, and one each to up-and-down Texas and doughty Delaware. Delaware like Army, has been unbeaten in three years. Neither Texas nor Delaware made the first ten in the final ratings.

Irish Total 1,730

The outpouring of votes that resulted—counted on the usual basis of ten points for a first-place selection, nine for a second, eight for a third and so forth—gave the battering South Benders a total of 1,730½ points as against 1,659½ for Army. Georgia's Bulldogs rolled up 1,448 and U. C. L. A. 1,141. It was the first year four teams had gone over the 1,000-mark.

Just back of U. C. L. A., in fifth place in the final standings, came Illinois' Big Nine champions, who tangle with the U.C.L.A.ans in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1. The Illini polling 893 points, beat out their Western conference rivals, the Wolverines of Michigan, who wound up in sixth place, with 778.

Another see-sawing affair, in which the lead changed hands several times, saw Guy's Hardware slipping past Universal Cooler 37 to 35.

Buckeyes had little trouble stopping Carroll's Jewelry outfit 35 to 26.

BODY OF MISSING MAN DISCOVERED IN BUCYRUS

E. J. Claus Dies in Little Used Stairway of Building.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Dec. 3 — Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Wise Funeral home for E. J. Claus, 42, farmer of North Robinson, whose body was found in an unused hallway above the Cully News stand north of the square at noon Monday.

Coroner O. R. Kackley of Galion, said death was due to a heart attack and had possibly occurred early Friday afternoon, shortly after Mr. Claus had been seen drinking a cup of coffee in a local restaurant.

The body was found after a search of nearly 48 hours by the police department and friends from North Robinson, the latter coming upon the body after following a clue that an inquiry had been made by a man answering Claus' description at the fire department concerning a dentist's office, formerly located in the rooms destroyed by fire in the Mader block recently.

West Coast Baseball Girds To Stand Off Major Threat

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 3—President Clarence Rowland of the Pacific Coast league said at baseball's annual winter meeting today he believed all minor baseball leagues would support a movement to block major league invasion of minor league territory.

He said his organization would spearhead such action by seeking amendment of the present major-minor agreement to balk any ideas the majors might have of taking over a franchise in any league, notably any city in the Pacific Coast league, International league or American association.

Many Rumors, Little Action

Rowland, member of the minor leagues' executive committee, made his observation as more than 1,000 baseball men entered the second day of their meeting. In its first day the gathering produced more rumors than action in the way of player deals or outstanding developments.

The effect of an amendment such as proposed to block the majors' expansion was obvious. Briefly, it would require that all clubs of a league give permission for one member of the league to go major. In the case of the Coast loop, if Los Angeles or San Francisco were taken over, opponents say the entire league, with its millions of invested dollars, would be wrecked. The same might apply to another triple "A" circuit.

Several Issues on Agenda

Several issues remained uppermost on the week's agenda. In the minor league category was (1) the probable retirement of William G. Bramham as president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, and the election of his successor, (2) adoption of the amendment to forestall possible major league encroachment, (3) the demand to be presented by the Pacific Coast loop for recognition as a third major league, and (4) approval on a number of provisions to the major-minor agreement, many of them technical in nature.

Most observers predicted Bramham would retire — not resign— but identity of his successor was debated. George Trautman, executive vice president of the Detroit Tigers, remained in the spotlight for the position, but one source close to him declared Trautman was not campaigning for the job. Steve O'Neill, the Tiger manager, said he never had heard Trautman mention the matter.

No Pigs in Front Yard, Union County Home Head Asserts

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Dec. 3—McKinley Haines, superintendent of the Union county home, in reply to a critical report made by the board of visitors of this county on his institution, stated a member of the board who was not present at the inspection signed the report, that pigs alleged to be in the front yard were actually in a hog lot, that spots in the lawn which the board claimed were uprooted by the pigs were freshly spaded flower beds, that there are half a dozen mouse traps in the building but no rat traps as the board claimed.

The superintendent added in his answer to the charges that he furnished warm bedding and newspapers, but could see no reason why comic books should be furnished as the board requested and disclaimed charges that he refused to allow a local minister to offer his services in the home.

Woman Reports $51 Stolen from Apartment

Mrs. Frances Brown of 134 East Church street told police $51 in bills was taken from her apartment Sunday evening. It was contained in a handkerchief which was hidden under a pillow of a bed, she said. The apartment was not broken into. Police said there have been a number of cases of sneak thievery in the vicinity. They have arrested a teen-age boy and turned him over to juvenile court for questioning.

HOUSE AND TRAILER DESTROYED BY FIRE

Flames Sweep Two Marion Dwelling Units.

A house trailer owned by Mrs. Margaret J. Brown of 197 Harrison street and parked at the rear of her home was destroyed by fire Monday about 10 p. m. with an estimated loss of $1,200.

Mrs. Brown, her husband, Floyd E. and son, Roy, 23, had moved into the trailer a few days earlier when they were unable to get coal to heat their house. The fire in the trailer was caused by an overheated oil stove, firemen said. Only occupant of the trailer at the time of the fire was Roy Brown, who was awakened by passing children.

A two-story, one-family, frame house on Cottage street outside the corporation line, was destroyed by fire today about noon with a loss of approximately $8,000. Firemen said the owner, Lee Hildebrant, had kindled a fire in the living room stove and gone out into the backyard. Only casualty was a dog which was trapped in the kitchen. Firemen said the fire would have been brought under control had not the only source of water, one fire hydrant, been frozen. The loss is partially covered by insurance, they said.

Steubenville Pastors Score Bishop's Stand

STEUBENVILLE, O., Dec. 3—Steubenville's crusading Protestant pastors yesterday declared portions of a recent announcement by Catholic Bishop John King Mussio concerning gambling was "such an utterly puerile and childish statement that one might expect it to come from the lips of a Gerald L. K. Smith."

Following a meeting of the Steubenville Ministerial association, which supported an appeal by 12 members for appointment as special policemen to clean out the underworld, the pastors declared:

"We rejoice in the bishop's stand against the terrible evil of prostitution and his opposition to those forms of gambling which are contrary to the law. We regret, however, the implication in the bishop's letter to the effect that 'little persons' were engaged in a campaign seeking to restore prohibition."

Those installed to serve with Mrs. Hall, were: Arthur B. Creasap, worthy patron; Mrs. Dorothy Galladay, associate matron; Charles L. Haughn, associate patron; Miss Pauline Ruhl, secretary; Mrs. Eloise T. Youngs, treasurer; Mrs. Mary G. Conyers, conductress; Mrs. Mary Craven, associate conductress; Mrs. Lauretta Fies, chaplain; Mrs. Marguerite Bull, marshal; Mrs. Eve Hunter, organist; Miss Mary Jane Augenstein, Ada; Mrs. Katherine Hughes, Ruth; Mrs. Catherine Ferguson, Esther; Mrs. Joyce Ralston, Martha; Mrs. Mattie Ward, Electa; Mrs. Pauline King, warder; and Joseph F. Neidhart, sentinel.

The other installing officers were: Harold W. Hall, marshal; Catherine Cheney, of Zanesville, associate marshal; Mrs. Ethelwyn Muntsinger, chaplain; Emma Taylor, conductress; Mrs. Florence Pickerel, grand representative of Massachusetts near the Grand Chapter of Ohio, secretary; Mrs. Ethel Case, organist; Mrs. Montgomery, warder; Vayne Galladay, sentinel. The installing officers were escorted to their stations by Mrs. Emma Bondley.

As Mrs. Hall was installed, the DeMolay chorus sang "My Task," and Mrs. Creasap sang, "Give Me Your Smile," as Mr. Creasap was presented.

On behalf of the chapter, D. E. Montgomery presented Mrs. Montgomery her past matron jewel and Albert J. Firestone presented a past patron's jewel to the retiring patron, Mr. Galladay.

After the closing of the chapter, a reception program was held in the chapter room with the following numbers, "The Old Rugged Cross," by the DeMolay chorus; the star point addenda, "The Cross," which consisted of the forming of a cross in the center of the chapter room, just west of the altar by the members of star points, with Miss Joan Lockwood, as the singing marshal, following which the Eastern Star chorus sang several selections.

Decorations were in gold and white in keeping with the golden anniversary year.

In the dining room, where refreshments were served, the tables were formed in the shape of the letter "H." At the center table was a gold Madonna, with open gold fans as a background, and with white candles in gold candlesticks on each side. The tables were covered with draped banquet table cloths, trimmed with gold letters and numbers, designating the name and date of the chapter. The decorations were in charge of Mrs. Vera Koons. Serving at the table were Mrs. Ruth Carhart, Mrs. Muntsinger, Mrs. Alice Creasap and Mrs. Margaret Haughn. Committees were named by the newly-installed matron.

GALION, Dec. 3—The trustees of First Evangelical United Brethren church met Monday following the Sunday night blaze which destroyed both church and parsonage, to consider where to hold church meetings and other problems. Two women were injured at the scene of the fire. They are Miss Kathryn Melcher of Johnsville, nurse at City hospital who fell over a fire hose and suffered a fracture of her left arm, and Mrs. Reed Drake who tore ligaments in the right knee when she fell.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"I KNOW nothing of the kind," the F. B. I. man, whom we knew as "Mr. X.," the F. B. I. impersonator of a Nazi spy, said blusteringly. "What is the reason that these men must stay out here unguarded?"

"In the first place," my father said in quiet authoritative tones, "because I have so decided.

"In the second place," he went on, "they will not be unguarded. There are ample guards around this place, as you very well know to take care of our friends. They will let no possible harm come to them.

The Chief's Commands

"You may come in," he said, "and Charlie Kent. You will come close to the door here. Then I will turn on the switchlight, and inspect the veranda and the driveway outside. If I see a single man anywhere near, I shall be obliged to deny entrance to yourself and to Charlie Kent."

"Look here!" the F. B. I. man began angrily. Then his ingrained respect for the Chief, or, as I quoted cynically to myself, "a reasonable facsmile thereof," took hold of him and toned down his utterance.

"Of course," he said. "I see your point."

There was a pause, and then his voice sounded farther away, and I knew that he had turned to speak to the men he had brought with him.

"Get around to the side of the house, men," he said, "and wait for me there."

Hears No Response

I did not hear any response, but an instant later there was the click of the switch which turns on the powerful lamp which lights up the veranda and the driveway. A few seconds later, my father spoke again, this time in more friendly fashion.

"Very good," he said. "Jim, in thirty seconds, admit 'Mr. X,' [illegible]d Mr. Kent."

"Okay!" Jim responded, and my wrist watch registered the thirtieth second when Jim undid the bolts. I knew that my father was back in his station at the rear of the hall.

The two men came into the hall, "Mr. X." in the lead, Charlie Kent following him. I took only a cursory look at the F. B. I. man whom I remembered so well from the night when he, as I supposed a Nazi spy, had lain bound upon the floor of the hall, and had whispered the cryptic message to Hugh Grantland which had proved him to be an F. B. I. operative.

Attention Is Focused

All my attention was focused upon Charlie Kent. For if ever I saw a man in what Dicky would call a "blue funk," he was that man. An ex-soldier, he is as brave as he is reliable and resourceful, but that fear for himself or, more probably, I amended, for us, was consuming him was plainly to be seen. His eyes were fixed upon my father, and I did not need to be clairvoyant to know that he was trying desperately to convey some message to "the Chief."

I waited to peer around the screen until I knew by the sound of their footsteps that the two visitors were well past the edge of it. But the sound of "Mr. K's" made me dodge back again, for he was speaking to the newcomer, and "Mr. X." was turning toward him in answer.

A Cheery Greeting

"Hello, 'X.'," "Mr. K." was saying. "Fancy meeting you out in this neck of the woods. How have you been, anyway, and what's your line out here?"

For an instant there was silence, then the voice of "Mr. X." spoke with apparent cordiality. But I wondered if my imagination were "working overtime," something of which my husband frequently accuses me, or did the voice of the newcomer sound strained?

"Hello!" he said. "It's good to see you." He emphasized the pronoun. "How are you?"

"Fine," "Mr. K." said. Then he added, as if casually: "I haven't seen you since that little affair down in Richmond last March. Remember?"

....GOING OUT TONIGHT, BURMA?
DON'T YOU RECALL, LANDLADY ALLEN? TERRY AND I MADE A DATE TO HAVE A CLASS REUNION OF THE SCHOOL OF HARD KNOCKS...
HE CALLED TODAY TO MAKE A SPECIFIC DATE FOR DINNER THIS EVENING!
I PICKED UP THE OUTGOING CALL CHARGES AT THE SWITCHBOARD AS I CAME IN TONIGHT! THERE WAS ONE TO THE AIR CATHAY NUMBER! YOU CALLED HIM TO MAKE THE DATE!
WELL—THE TALL TILLIE DOUBLES AS HER OWN PRIVATE EYE! SURE, I CALLED TERRY! DOES THAT MAKE YOU FEEL ANY WORSE?...
ON THE CONTRARY...
...I KNOW NOW HOW VULNERABLE YOU ARE! I DIDN'T STOP AT THE DESK TO PICK UP THE TELEPHONE CHARGES!... OH, HOW EASY IT WAS TO TRAP YOU IN A LIE!

WILL YOU PLEASE LIFT YOUR FEET, DEAR?
CAN'T YOU JUST SWEEP AROUND ME?
ONE OF THE FIRST RULES IN GOOD HOUSEKEEPING IS THAT A WIFE SHOULD NEVER SWEEP AROUND A HUSBAND

CONGRATULATE ME, MIN! I'M USING THE DREGS OF MY DESPAIR TO BREW THE CUP OF SUCCESS—IN FEWER WORDS, I'M PERCOLATING!
I'LL BITE — WHAT NOW? A FUR-LINED CONCRETE MIXER?—
AH, MY SEVEREST SCOFFER, I WILL MAKE HISTORY—I'LL REAR A SERVICE STATION FOR CUPID— A TEMPLE FOR THE PERPETUATION OF PULCHRITUDE—
WH!—A BEAUTY PARLOR? A HOT-DOG STAND'D FIT YOU BETTER!
GUS EDSON
HUH! WE GUMPS HAVE ALWAYS BEEN CULTURED — I SUPPOSE YOU KNOW OUR ANCESTORS CAME ACROSS ON THE MAYFLOWER—
AND BIM'S KEEPING UP WITH THE FAMILY TRADITION BY COMING ACROSS TO YOU—AND PLENTY!
